

Mentor. Friend. My teacher!

Teacher. One word and so many emotions, so many thoughts, so many associations. During the study, these people are ones of the closest to you. They become an integral part of your life. Each of them become for you something more than just the person who is giving you the knowledge and homework.

Now I would like to talk about teachers in our school. With every lesson, everyday and every year I realize that at our school the teachers are very different from others. Our mentors are so empathetic, so understandable. Each of them has a sense of humor. Each of them can present the information so that you will fully go into the subject. The most important that language is acceptable and simple for us.

Let's talk about them outside of the classroom. Teachers are incredible people. Despite the fact that they work all day and sometimes even nights, they have time to talk to us about our lives. They are interested in our health, promotion in some cases, our plans for the future. They are not only interested in that, they help us to implement these plans and targets. Teachers do everything for our bright future. In addition to that, they can talk about your personal problems and give an advice. Always interesting to see into the look at the situation from the another side. Asking the opinion of our teachers we can be 100% sure that we are not going be deceived and can always be supported by them. Perhaps in such moments you understand that they are your real friends. As teachers will never wish you bad things. They share with us the experience and always trying to help.

We need to respect, appreciate and love the teachers. Our teachers-our mentors in life.
