

A teacher is a great profession.

Teacher is a great profession. To teach means to give accurate and clear knowledge and make students know how to use it. And a teacher is a human who teaches, obviously. It is extremely an important and hard profession. If they weren't in the world, who would teach people the other professions? Teachers can be different and work in different places for example, at school, university, give courses individually, online as for other professions there are many advantages and disadvantages

One of the main benefits is communication. Every time you speak to someone, you definitely know something new and are getting better and trendier, especially if you talk to children. Also, when you get teaching courses, you learn something new, too and develop your teaching skills. Moreover, you can make many friends and discuss anything you want right at the school on lunch time! And it is not really necessary if they are students or your colleagues. One more advantage is long-time vacation. You can spend your holidays and go on a trip with friends. And the last I want to say is your authority and thankfulness. Many people are informed about how difficult is to be a teacher, so they respect them.

It would be the best profession but there are many disadvantages. First of all, if you work at the school and have any other occasions or hobbies, you may need cancel all of them, because you need to be responsible and hardworking. Sometimes the job takes a lot of time so you don't even have time for your private life. I would even say that a teacher is more like a life-style. Other minus is low salary. Unfortunately, in some schools salary is not high so you can't live rich while working only one job. But I believe that people will understand how it is and start to pay more money. The last disadvantage is that you need to be highly patient and purposeful. Children may be naughty, loud and may not understand something for the first time. It makes many teachers feel sad and empty but they should not give up because some day everyone will grow up and understand everything.

In conclusion I can say that a teacher is a good profession but there are many difficulties that you need to know and be ready for.
